

COMMERCIAL CLUB IN REGULAR SESSION

The American Fork Commercial Club met in regular session Thursday February 16 President Colding in the chair, and a good representation of members present.

A letter was read from the Rand McNally company in regards to making maps of the vicinity. They wish to place in this city data concerning the free camping ground, routes to Timpanogos mountain and other points of interest, but were asking $35.00 for this service. The matter was referred to the advertising committee for their recommendation.

A communication was read from the Utah Outdoor Ass'n. which had been sent to Coach E. L. Roberts of Provo, concerning what they wished to do in regard to Timpanogos cave and mountain. The people of Utah County do not like the stand taken by the forest service in trying to give the Salt Lake organization full control of these wonder attractions after the people of this district have donated so much time and labor to establish the publicity they now have. It was the opinion of the club members that a Utah county Outdoor Ass'n. should be formed to take over these attractions but the matter was left open until further investigation can be made. Coach Roberts was invited to attend the next meeting of the club to be held March 2nd, where the matter will be taken up.

S. L. Chipman read a communication from the Kiwanis and the Chamber of Commerce Clubs of Provo stating that it would be impossible for them to lend any financial aid towards the lighting of the Timpanogos cave at present.

It was suggested that every business house use some slogan describing our city and that it be placed on all letter heads, advertising, etc. The slogan will be worked out later.

Mr. Chipman proposed that an archway or suitable sign be placed across main street on each end of the town, telling of the side trips which can be taken from American Fork. This sign is to be attractive and not a common advertiser's sign. This was referred to the advertising committee for further investigation.

Committees were named for the ensuing year.

PRIMARY ENTERTAINMENT NETS CHILDREN'S HOME $30

The Primary entertainment given by the Primaries of the four wards in the tabernacle Thursday evening was fairly well attended. The entertainment netted them $30 which will be placed in the fund for maintaining the Convalescent Home for Primary Children in Salt Lake.

FIFTH ANNUAL STOCK SHOW SET FOR APRIL

Entries in the Fifth Annual Intermountain Livestock show to be held in Salt Lake City April 2, 4, 5 and 6, are being received daily by Dr. R. N. Mead, managing editor, at his office in the Salt Lake Commercial Club building. The number submitted at such an early date has exceeded all expectations. Prospects at this time indicate that an excess of one hundred carloads of purebred livestock will be on exhibition.

A surprise factor is the interest shown by stockmen in distant localities. In addition to entries made by breeders in Intermountain states, a number have been received by mail and telegram from points in the east.

Correspondence received each day indicates a greater interest in the boys and girls section and the educational features of the show this year than ever before. Since letters were sent out to superintendents of schools and county agricultural agents a number of entries have been made in the boys and girls section and many inquiries concerning this department have been received.

A special feature will be a staff of educational directors under the chairmanship of J. E. Dorman, in charge of the western office of the dairy division of the United States department of agriculture. The staff will include men of renown and much experience, obtained from colleges and universities in the mountain states, who will be continuously in service. They will aid the stockmen in selection, direct them in the manner of caring for such livestock as they may be interested in, and will render assistance in bringing the livestock industry of the Intermountain west to its utmost degree of perfection.

Professor C. D. Steiner of the University of Utah will be supervisor of the boys and girls section. Henry Oberhansley of the Utah Agricultural college of Logan will be in charge of the livestock judging contest for students from the higher institutions of learning. John T. Caine III of the Utah Agricultural college will be among the judges in the cattle section and will assist in the educational program. Other men of wide experience will be sent from the colleges and universities for the purpose of delivering lectures and rendering assistance in directing the educational work.

With Mr. Dorman as chairman of the educational staff, special attention will be given the dairy industry. While this is the first year that a dairy section has been provided for a keen interest is manifest. Inquiries concerning this section are being received in abundance from dairymen of Utah, southern Idaho, Colorado, Oregon and other western states. In addition to the cash premiums offered by the show management, several special prizes have been offered by firms, breeding associations and individuals for winners in the dairy section. This is also true of other sections, particularly in the boys and girls section, the special prize including purebred stock, cash awards and various lines of merchandise.

The final premium lists and programs have been received from the printers and will be mailed out to exhibitors within a few days. The livestock committee of the Commercial Club, which has charge of arrangements, announced that extensive newspaper advertising will begin throughout the Intermountain states within a short time. David A. Smith, chairman of the committee, said that every effort will be made to secure a record attendance.

SEMINARY STUDENTS GIVE PROGRAM

A first class religious entertainment was given Sunday afternoon in the Second ward chapel by the High School Seminary students of that ward.

An appreciative audience, numbering 170, was present to enjoy the program. Ernest Bramwell, their teacher, sat at the head of the class, to whom much credit is due for the genuine religious zeal and instruction he has infused into the high school students of American Fork.

Judging from his beaming eyes and smiling countenance, we are quite sure he felt overjoyed to hear his pupils acquit themselves so ably and so eloquently in treating the various subjects assigned to them. The parents of the pupils must also have felt no less overjoyed to hear their children deliver such splendid and eloquent talks to such an intelligent and appreciative assembly.

One thing particularly noticeable in all the papers read by the pupils was that they were able to prove from the Holy scriptures, every fundamental principle of the Mormon church to be Scriptural, showing clearly that they are being well prepared for missionary work, when it shall be their duty and privilege to perform it.

We thus can plainly see what a great growing power our church local seminaries are for the dissemination of the principles of truth and virtue both at home and abroad. We sincerely hope and trust that more of our young folks will get to see and understand the great benefits to be derived from these church local seminaries and get their names enrolled therein forthwith.

The program thus briefly sketched was richly interspersed with vocal and instrumental selections by competent high school musicians.

The evening meeting of the M. I. A. had an attendance of 185.

Eldred J. Wild of American Fork has just been pledged to Phi Alpha Epsilon, social fraternity on the University of Utah campus.

Miss Meiba Chipman of Am. Fork played a violin selection on the program of the Spanish Club on the University of Utah campus last week.

"The big problem not only in Utah but in every state of the Union at present is that of the physically and mentally subnormal," declared Dr. Heber J. Sears, head of the department of hygiene at the University of Utah, after his return from a two-month trip to California and the Hawaiian Islands.

While on his trip Dr. Sears spent a large part of his time studying the subnormal as well as conditions of leprosy and special work of the hygiene of the school child. He spent two weeks in California and a month and a half in the Hawaiian Islands.

Dr. Sears is now working out methods for bringing a subnormal child up to normal and providing educational facilities for those who are either super-normal or sub-normal. Some of the physical defects that are holding the children back in their school work are such diseases as infected tonsils, adenoids, and bad eyesight. Special attention must also be paid to the subnormal mentally, he said. They should be given special training by each state.
